

Visit Thirsk Town Website Launch

Thirsk has a strong offer as a market town with a reputation for culture and renowned visitor attractions such as the World of James Herriot and Thirsk Racecourse. Thirsk Museum is located at the birthplace of Thomas Lord, in 1755, founder of Lord's Cricket Ground, and also hosts Thirsk and District Museum Society. Crews are currently filming Channel 5's 'The Yorkshire Vet' in the town, facilitated by the World of James Herriot.

To capitalise on these opportunities and to invest more resources in marketing and promotion Thirsk Town Council commissioned local web developer White Horse Web Solutions to develop the visitthirsktown.com website.

The aim of the visitthirsktown.com website is to put a spotlight on local businesses situated in and around the market place and the surrounding area. In so doing provide a catch all resource for visitors to the town, providing clarity as they plan their visit.

In this it's first incarnation visitthirsktown.com presents local businesses in 5 different categories namely shop, eat, stay, culture, cycling & activities and events.
